His family moved north to Albany, VT when Jesse was about 3 years old, then onwards to Lower Canada when he was about ten. Jesse was married Mar. 28, 1853 at Potton, Canada East to SOPHRONIA STICKNEY PEABODY, daughter of Francis Peabody (1771-1861) and Fanny Stickney (1784-1875). - J780
- i. Levi M. Bailey, Sr., b. May 24, 1854. He married Mary Agnes Lloyd.
  - ii. Jane Bailey, b. Apr. 4, 1856. She was married May 6, 1899 in Franklin, VT to Warren W. Bowen. Their marriage quickly ended in divorce Jun. 21, 1900 amid accusations of abuse by Mr. Warren, for which he was criminally convicted. Jane was living at Potton, QC with her first cousin, James Peabody, when the 1901 census was taken. As a result of the early death of her brother, Jane inherited the original Bailey farm at Potton when her mother died in 1893. She was living on that farm at Potton, Quebec, when the 1911 and 1921 censuses were taken. Though she had helpers for the farm, it became burdensome and she sold the farm Nov. 8, 1924 to Henry Parkhurst for $1,384.00, reserving the right to redeem the property within 10 years by repaying Parkhurst $1,384.00 plus interest at 6%. She continued to live on the farm, although unwell, bedridden much of the time and was being cared for by Mrs. Fred Boyce. On Jul. 27, 1926, Jane's nephew, Edgar Orville Bailey {J1044}, exercised the right of redemption of the Bailey property by paying Mr. Parkhurst $1384.00 plus accrued interest of 6%. Once this was done, Jane felt relieved and went to Highwater, Quebec, to live with said nephew, Edgar. Although for a short time her health seemed better, she died Sep. 5, 1927 at Edgar Bailey's home at Highwater, Quebec, age 71.

Jesse and Sophronia were recorded together in the 1861, 1871 and 1881 censuses of Potton, Quebec. Jesse Bailey was a farmer. He died Nov. 18, 1889 at Potton, Quebec, age 67. After her daughter-in-law, Mary (Lloyd) Bailey died in 1890, Widow Sophronia had to step in as acting mother for her five young grandsons until her death Nov. 15, 1893, age 75. Jesse and Sophronia Bailey were buried in Mansonville Protestant Cemetery, Mansonville, (Potton Township), Quebec, Canada. Their 26 great-great-grandchildren include the compiler of this document {J1330}.

JOSIAH J. BAILEY, son of Jonathan Bailey, Sr. {J320} and Sarah Maria (Jennison) Bailey, was born Jun. 20, 1823 at Peacham, VT. Josiah had a colorful marriage history, with five marriages, including the same woman twice! Josiah was first married about 1845 to SARAH CORY, whose parents are unknown. Sarah Bailey died Aug. 16, 1847 at North Troy, VT, age 55, and was buried there. Josiah Bailey "of Troy" was married a second time Sep. 30, 1847 at Brownington, VT to NANCY JANE ELKINS "of Potton", daughter of Moses Elkins (1800-1869)<sup>1248</sup> and Eliza (Miltimore) Elkins (1803-1869). Nancy was born Jan. 25, 1827 at VT. Their marriage was troubled as Josiah Bailey placed a notice in the Oct 4, 1850 issue of the Stansted Journal, Stanstead, Quebec, which read:

"Whereas my wife Nancy Jane, without any provocation, has left my bed and board and refused to live with me, therefore this is to forbid all persons to harbor or trust her on my account, as I will pay no debts of her contracting after this date".

On Oct. 26, 1857, Judge Milo L. Bennett of the Vermont Supreme Court at Burlington, issued a summons to Nancy Jane Bailey of Potton to appear at St. Albans and "answer to the foregoing libel". They were subsequently divorced. Josiah was evidently married a third time before 1860 to BETSEY GRANT, born about 1824 at Scotland. Josiah and Betsey were living at Franklin, VT when the 1860 census was taken. Betsey Bailey died Aug. 5, 1865 at Franklin, VT, age about 40.

Josiah Bailey was married a fifth time Oct. 26, 1876 at Richford, VT to NANCY JANE (ELKINS) BAILEY FLINT, his former second wife, but by then the widow of Abel Butler Flint. In spite of all these marriages, Josiah had no known children. Josiah and Nancy Bailey were living at Manchester, NH when the 1880 census was taken.

Nancy Bailey died Apr. 27, 1895, at Goffstown, NH, age 68. She was buried in Hillside Cemetery, Goffstown, NH. After her death, Josiah returned to Potton, Quebec where he was boarding when the 1901 census was taken. He died Oct. 2, 1903 at Potton, Quebec, age 80.

LEVI JEFFERSON BAILEY, JR., son of Levi Bailey, Sr. {J321} and Achsah Margaret (Ainsworth) Bailey, was born Oct. 28, 1838 at Irasburg, VT. His father died when he was only 6 years old and he was placed to live with the family of his first cousin, Nathaniel Philbrick (1819-1888), son of Jonathan Philbrick and Dorcas (Bailey) Philbrick {J316} and Nathaniel's wife, Mercy Ann (Beedy) Philbrick (1822-1891), at Charleston, VT by the time the 1850 census was taken. Levi headed west, probably with the Nathaniel Philbrick family and was living in the home of Mercy (Beedy) Philbrick's younger brother, Charles Wesley Beedy (1832-1913), and wife Philomene ["Fanny"] (Montie) Beedy (1837-1922) at Reid, Will County, IL when the 1860 census was taken.

Levi was married Apr. 22, 1871 in Marshall County, IA to MARY J. FAY, daughter of Augustus Fay (c.1824-1863) and Martha A. (Vanocker) Fay, later Thomas (1836-1914). Mary was born about 1856 in DeKalb County, IL. Levi and Mary had one son, born at IA:

- J788 i. Ira Linzy Bailey, born Jan. 12, 1874. He first married Georgia Cornelia Light and secondly Ada R. (Reed) Todd.

Mary J. Bailey reportedly died Dec. 24, 1877, but no source could be found to document this date, although it is certain she died between 1874 and 1880. Widower Levi Bailey and his six-year-old son were living at Jackson Township, Adair County, IA when the 1880 census was taken. Levi and his son moved to Nebraska by 1900 and were living at Riverdale Township, Buffalo County, NE, when the 1900 census was taken. Levi's in-laws were well established at Buffalo County, NE at least by 1885, with three of his late wife's siblings and even her widowed mother living there when the 1885 census was taken. The 1907 obituary of Levi Bailey's sister, Mary Jane Leonard, noted her brother, Levi, was then living at the town of Newark, Kearney County, NE. Levi was living alone and farming at Newark, NE when the 1910 census was taken.

Levi J. Bailey probably died in the 1910s at Nebraska. His son, Ira, was married in 1900 and by 1909 had become well established in adjacent Buffalo County, NE.

Carrie and "Fred" were living without children at Manning, IA when the 1900 and 1920 censuses were taken. Fred Voss was a house painter (1910). He died Jul. 6, 1915 at Cohasset, Itasca County, MN, age 51. He was buried in Itasca Calvary Cemetery at Grand Rapids, MN. Carrie Voss may have been married a second time to a Mr. Patterson (more research needed), since "Carrie Patterson" was married Sep. 15, 1927 at Itasca County, MN to Frank Joseph Becker (1886-1958). Carrie's father's obituary in 1929 identified his surviving children as including "Mrs. Carrie Becker of Deep River, MN". Frank and Carrie were living at Oteneagen, Itasca County, MN when the 1930 census was taken. It appears that Carrie Becker was married another time to a Mr. Caldwell, as Carrie's brother George's obituary of 1939 identifies his surviving sister as "Carrie Caldwell" of Duluth, MN.
- vi. Rosie Bailey, b. Nov. 1879 at Dunlap, IA. She died young (not on the 1895, 1900 censuses). She may be the "Ida Bailey" who died Jan. 1880 at Dunlap, IA, per the 1880 census mortality schedule.

She was first married Sep. 11, 1903 at Manning, IA to Harry Garfield Littrell, son of Alonzo Thomas Littrell and Mary Emalia (Oyler) Littrell. Harry was born May 23, 1880 at Wilber, NE. This family were living at Dunlap, Harrison County, IA when the 1880 census was taken, then at Kirkman, IA from 1882. They were living from 1894 at Manning, Carroll County, IA where they were recorded when the 1895, 1900 and 1905 censuses were taken. Henry Bailey was a locomotive engineer. The very first locomotive that operated in Council Bluffs, IA was engineered by his father-in-law Henry Reed, and a photo exists of Henry Bailey maintaining this engine in 1863 at Dunlap, IA. Tragically, he was present on the train that crippled his own son Henry in 1898.

Henrietta Bailey died following an operation for diabetes gangrene on a lower limb Dec. 24, 1906 in St. Anthony's Hospital at Carroll, IA, age 52. Henry's employer, the Chicago and Northwestern Railway, supplied a funeral car for Mrs. Bailey from Carroll, IA to Dunlap, IA for burial.
